

GOULD BLUSHED IN THE WITNESS BOX.

Young Howard of the Family of Millionaires Asked Embarrassing Questions.

HIS WIFE HEARD ADMISSIONS

Attorneys Vainly Tried to Save Him Humiliation of Confessing
His Relations With Certain Women.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
New York, Nov. 7.—Howard Gould, trustee

Mr. Gould is the defendant in a suit for $50,000, brought by Frank Mowbray, a former valet, for injuries received while setting off fireworks for the amusement of a party at the behest of Mr. Gould, while aboard the latter's yacht Hillegarde, on July 4, 1905. Mowbray lost an eye and suffered

The point of interest in the trial centered around the fact that George Blane, George Blane's brother, was on the boat at the time. At Mr. Gould's trial, it is alleged, were directed to his desire to keep secret the fact that this was so.

Story Told by Monroney.

The claim of the plaintiff was that, after dinner on the yacht, the party went to the deck, where the party fired rockets were being discharged in honor of the birthday of July. Mr. Blanchard asked if there were not some fireworks aboard with which they might celebrate. It was found that there were no fireworks aboard, but that there were worse for age, and these Mr. Gould told the yacht to shoot off.

Mr. Gould would be was afraid to put, under a threat that he must obey orders or resign, he proceeded to shoot rockets. The rockets were fired, and Mr. Gould killed. Thompson Mr. Gould, the yacht company remembering that he was to blame for the murder, and that he was the only man to keep secret the fact that the yacht was on the boat. Mr. Blanchard was on the yacht.

Embarrassing Questions.
 "I had no desire to conceal the identity of the guests on my boat," Mr. Gould testified. "I never told Mowbray to keep their names secret. They were Richard C. Boyd, Stephen Roache, Miss Grace Wolff and Mrs. George Blanchard."

Mrs. Gould flushed as the question was asked, and so did Mr. Gould. The latter

"Now," said Mr. Severance, "I ask the witness whether he did not keep some of his clothing at the house of Mrs. Blanchard.

"I decline to answer," said Mr. Gould.

The court instructed Mr. Gould to answer the question, since he claimed it would not injure him to give it. And Mr. Gould was finally compelled to answer that he could not remember whether there was any clothing at the house of Mrs. Blanchard at that time or not.

Husband and Wife Confused.

The boiling millinery was very much confused. It was undoubtedly at the wife who was embarrassed also. The crimson blood swept over her face. Both husband and wife looked as if they were not going to have their heads together.

"Is it not a fact that you paid the expenses of Mrs. Blanchard's support?" asked Mr. Severance.

After another wrangle the question was answered in the affirmative. The witness paid Mrs. Blanchard's expenses and for the maintenance of her home.

"Is it not a fact that when asking things about Grace Wolff, and, while Mr. Gould admitted that he had called upon her, he insisted that he could not remember her address?"

"How long did you know Mrs. Blanchard?"

"For one or five years."

"Until what time?"

"Oh, about 1892."

"When you pensioned her off?"

There was a storm of protest against this and, after a heated argument, it was excluded.

The milliner was on the witness stand when Judge Glasgow ordered an adjournment. The witness will resume the witness stand to-morrow.

MATRIMONIAL PLAN SPOILED.

Fred Scheiffelen Was Not Old

MATRIMONIAL PLAN SPOILED.
Fred Scheiffelen Was Not Old
Enough to Wed.

Fred Schellfelen, 29 years old, living at No. 27 Russell avenue, applied for a license yesterday to wed Miss Mary Kratz, 23 years old, of No. 189 South Fourteenth street. License Clerk Elbey refused to issue the license.

At the Recorder's office the young man walked up to the clerk and said he wanted a license to marry. He was accompanied by his sweetheart. The young lady said she was 21 years old, and the clerk did not question the truth of her assertion. But when the young man said he was 21 years old Mr. Filley doubted him. After being cross-questioned by Mr. Filley Scheffelin "Guess I'll be back to see you in about eight months," called Scheffelen to Mr. Philley as he left the office.

DUKE KENNETT WEDDING

DUFEE-KENNETT WEDDING.
Guests From St. Louis Attend the Ceremony at Chicago.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 7.—Miss Agnes Florence Kennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Kennett of the Metropole, and Walter

Only relatives and intimate friends were present at the ceremony, which was fol-

The bridal procession was headed by six ushers, who entered two by two. Then came the maid of honor, the bride's only

Among the out-of-town guests were the

At St. John's Hospital.

Hussey Declares That He Was Shot During Political Dispute.

Frank Hussey, the wounded man who was taken by force from the City Hospital by seven men early Tuesday morning, was located yesterday in St. John's Hospital. His condition is said to be not serious.

Frank Hussey, the wounded man who was taken by force from the City Hospital by seven men early Tuesday morning, was located yesterday in St. John's Hospital. His condition is said to be not serious.

After the shooting, which occurred at Twenty-third and Chestnut streets, he was taken to the City Hospital. Before his removal to the operating-room seven friends entered the building and carried him out.

It now develops that they took him to his home at No. 356 Chestnut street, where an operation was performed on him by Doctor A. V. L. Brokaw. Afterwards he was removed to St. John's Hospital. He said that he was shot by a stranger with whom

It is now reported that they took him to his home at No. 335 Chestnut street, where an operation was performed on him by Doctor A. V. L. Brokaw. Afterwards he was removed to St. John's Hospital. He said that he was shot by a stranger with whom he engaged in a political argument in front of Mike Churchill's saloon at No. 292 Chestnut street.

Chief Desmond made no investigation of the shooting. Hussey declared that he would not prosecute a defendant.

would not prosecute his associates.

Try a Republic Want Ad. Sunday or any day in the week. A trial tells the story of its goodness.

Bullet From Will Miner's Revolver Ended the Life of Albert Koch at Olivette.

W. Miner, the commission merchant, a railroad promoter, 12-year-old WHI Miner walks the floor almost distracted with grief. It was his hand that held the pistol that sped the fatal bullet. Late last night his father and mother, who were visiting

When Mr. and Mrs. Biner came to St. Louis Tuesday, they left their son in charge of the home. That night the Koch boys, who have been his playmates for several months, went over to see if they could frighten him. They threw some mud be-against the front door and ran back laughing, expecting to catch each other as they

While he was talking he threw his hands back to his hip pocket and started to draw.

Young Miller was in great distress over the tragedy. He cried and mourned for the dead boy and exhibited such strong symptoms of despondency and nervousness that several older persons deemed it wise to keep a close watch on him for fear he would attempt violence to himself. He was not taken into custody, but Sheriff Kerk was notified and began an investigation.

Says Forthcoming Statement Will Place Himself and Patrick
in New Light

cut his throat, is preparing a statement which, he says, will greatly surprise the public. When Jones had recovered sufficiently from the wound in his throat to be able to leave his cot, he requested that the newspapers containing a report of his fool or a knave. The newspaper commen-have stung him so deeply that he has decided to make a reply to the stories. Jones intends to write the real story of the remarkable confession, how it was obtained

by District Attorney Osborne during a ma-

Mr. Osborne, and it will place both Jerome and Patrick in an entirely different light.

with stomach trouble and dyspepsia until I tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup since taking your great remedy. I of the sincerity of this letter, which Wholesale or Retail.

The bridal procession was headed by six ushers, who entered two by two. Then came the maid of honor, the bride's only sister, Miss Frances Lee, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Lee. The bridegroom's best man was W. T. Harshbarger of St. Louis. The bride's best man was unusually late, and he did not appear until the bride had been pronounced. He then made a short speech and received a round of applause. Among the out-of-town guests were the bride's uncles, L. M. Kennett and Wilson Kennett of St. Louis.

AT ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL.

Hussey Declares That He Was Shot During Political Dispute.

Frank Hussey, the wounded man who was taken by force from the City Hospital by seven men early Tuesday morning, was shot in the back during a political dispute, it is said by a man who was present. His condition is said to be not serious.

After the shooting, which occurred at Twenty-third and Chestnut streets, he was taken to the City Hospital. Before his removal to the operating-room seven friends entered the building and carried him off. It was a new development that took him to his home at No. 333 Chestnut street, where an operation was performed on him by Doctor A. C. Brokaw.

After the operation he was removed to St. John's Hospital. He said that he was shot by a stranger with whom he was involved in a political argument in front of Mike Churchill's saloon at No. 272 Chestnut street.

Dr. Brokaw made no investigation of the shooting. Hussey declared that he would not prosecute his assailant.

ge

TERSONVILLE, IND., May 15, 1900.

III.

with stomach trouble and dyspepsia
until I tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup since taking your great remedy. I of the sincerity of this letter, which
s may learn the great benefit of Dr.

sincerely yours,

MRS. MAGGIE HOOPER.

D BY

olesale or Retail.